All Africa Conference of Churches

The African Pulse is published quarterly by the All Africa Conference of Churches as an information, educational and advocacy platform for the ecumenical movement in Africa.

AACC is a continental ecumenical body that accounts for over 200 million Christians across the continent. AACC is the largest association of Protestant, Anglican, Orthodox and Indigenous churches in Africa and is a member of the worldwide ecumenical network. AACC is a fellowship of 206 members comprising of Churches, National Councils of Churches (NCCs), theological and lay training institutions and other Christian organizations in 43 African countries.

Message From The General Secretary

Rev. Dr. Fidon Mwombeki

The second quarter of the year had many events. Thanks be to God that finally, we have been able to turn the curve on the Coronavirus pandemic complications on interactions and meetings. We thank God that the gift of vaccines has finally enabled us to function with some normalcy. I, therefore, urge leaders of Churches everywhere to encourage people to get vaccinated, since Coronavirus is still a challenge.

On this page, I want to say a bit about the planned All Africa Youth Congress which we have been planning for a long time, since right before the Coronavirus outbreak. Now we have the dates, the venue, and we are all gearing up for it. Many who have heard about it, think it is a great idea.

We want to bring together young adults, who we call the youth according to the definition of the African Union, meaning persons below the age of 35 years. They should have an experience of the beauty of Pan-Africanism. They should come to hear and contemplate on the theme: "AFRICA: MY HOME. MY FUTURE." The message is clear. African youth have no better place for their future and no other place they can proudly call home. Politics aside, with the rising racism against people of African descent everywhere, it is time for the young people of Africa to commit themselves to develop their countries and their continent. Africa is so blessed that many foreigners want to move here; the question is, what is there in the African continent that other people see and our young people do not?

We are happy that one of the most prolific African patriotic leaders since the 1960s, Chief Olusegun Obasanjo, the former President of Nigeria, who has an impeccable record as a democratic, effective leader and who started leading at a very young age, has accepted to serve as the Patron of the Congress. He has also accepted to grace the Congress by his presence and addressing the young people. The government of Ghana, led by the President himself,

His Excellency President Nana Akufo-Addo, is wholeheartedly welcoming us to Ghana.

We expect to have many speakers, including those from the African Union, Economic Community of West African States, Africa Development Bank, and many young political actors in the continent. I urge all Churches to encourage, inspire and sponsor young people to be part of this maiden Congress.

In this second quarter, I was also blessed to take part in several events and visited a number of Churches and partners. Let me mention the two most inspiring for me; first, is my visit to two Francophone countries, Ivory Coast and Senegal. The reception I got, the readiness of the leaders to be actively engaged in the AACC's activities, and my appreciation of the challenges of a bilingual organization was very educative and encouraging.

Second, I want to appreciate the invitation to meet with the board of Council for the World Mission (CWM) and serve as a keynote speaker at their Annual Members Meeting in London in June 2022. I wish to express my sincere gratitude to the CWM General Secretary, my dear friend, and my brother in mission, Rev. Prof. Dr. Jooseop Keum. The discussions we have been having to develop a closer working partnership with CWM are very promising.

I would also like to express my gratitude to the partners of the AACC who, not only attended the Partners Consultation which was held in May 2022 but also for their continued support and collaboration. We see the vibrancy of the AACC and continued recognition as a real continental ecumenical organization with recognized roles among Churches and institutions.

For all of these, we say, SOLI DEO GLORIA!

AFRICA: MY HOME. MY FUTURE.

Rev. Charles Berahino

The AACC, in collaboration with the World Council of Churches (WCC) and the Fellowship of Christian Councils and Churches in the Great Lakes and Horn of Africa (FECCLAHA), organized an Eminent Persons Ecumenical Programme for Peace in Africa (EPEPPA) visit to Sudan. Sudan continues to face challenges following the military coup of 25th October 2021. Civil strife and economic crisis have continued where the population is experiencing a lot of challenges.

As part of their endeavor for peace and stability for the region and the continent in general, the above-named organisations took the initiative for a solidarity visit to the churches, the government, and the people of Sudan. The Church in Sudan was encouraged to stand firm and keep its prophetic voice amidst the current political challenges.

The delegation also met with the Minister of Religion in Sudan Dr. Abd al-Atr Ahmed Abbas, who welcomed the team with enthusiasm, recognized the role the church plays in the life of their country, and reiterated his ministry’s commitment to work with the Church.

The delegation was also received by H.E. Abdel Fattah al-Burhan, Chairman of the Sovereign Council of the Republic of Sudan where they conveyed a message of peace: The Chairman appreciated the visit and considered it a sign of African solidarity.

Finally, the delegation met with the Norwegian Church Aid (NCA) Agency in Sudan, who committed to support the institutional capacity of the Sudan Council of Churches.

Learning and Exposure Visit to ACCORD in South Africa

The AACC organised an orientation session for some of the Eminent Persons through an experiential learning, exposure, and training at the African Centre for the Constructive Resolution of Disputes (ACCORD) in South Africa from 28th March 2022 to 1st April 2022.

During the training, participants interacted with the ACCORD leadership and staff where they learnt about the different approaches used by the ACCORD to bring creative African solutions to the challenges posed by conflict on the continent. In addition, there were panel discussions on peacebuilding efforts and processes, and visits to some historical sites (Voortrekker Monument, Freedom Park, constitutional Hill). They also discussed areas of future collaboration and engagements between the AACC and the ACCORD.

Lastly, during a dinner hosted by the ACCORD, the Eminent Persons interacted with dignitaries from the European Union, United Nations, and diplomats. The lessons learnt during this visit will contribute to strengthening the work of the AACC in Peace building.

Climate Change

Establishment of the AACC's Africa Faith Actors Network on Climate Justice

Dr. Tinashe Gumbo

The AACC held a High-Level Continental Consultative Meeting on Climate Change in Nairobi, Kenya at the DTCC from 21st June 2022 to 23rd June 2022, under the theme: “The Welfare of the Earth is our Welfare” Jeremiah 29:7. The meeting drew delegates from the AACC members, religious leaders from different faiths, academia, Civil Society, the African Union, development partners, media, and interest groups such as women, youth, and persons with disabilities.

The delegates reflected on critical theological and technical issues related to climate change and noted that there were more areas of convergence than differences among people of different faiths when it comes to creation matters. This became a strategic platform for faith leaders and other critical technical stakeholders to learn and exchange ideas on climate change issues from a theological perspective.

The major outcome of the meeting was the commissioning of the Africa Faith Actors Network on Climate Justice (AFAN-CJ). The main purpose of the AFAN-CJ is to amplify the work of the AACC thereby contributing to addressing the impact of climate change. The AFAN-CJ will also contribute to the coordination of the faith community’s work on climate change at national, regional, and continental levels building toward the annual United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) processes. The network was officially commissioned by the AACC’s General Secretary, Rev. Dr. Fidon Mwombeki.

The Untold Journey Podcast

Ms. Paska Nyaboth

The Untold Journey is a monthly podcast series. The aim of the podcast is also to replicate the documented knowledge and best practices in the ongoing interventions of the AACC in peace and stability on the continent.

Early this year, the AACC embarked on a journey to document the journey and experiences of faith actors and institutions that have contributed profoundly to peace and security, climate change, human rights, conflict resolutions, gender equality, and the deconstructing of misleading theologies. Noting that for decades, faith institutions have played a critical and noticeable role in contributing to peace and stability in the Horn of Africa through moral advocacy and lobbying for the implementation of policies. However, the efforts of faith institutions and their stewards go unnoticed and undocumented, hence this podcast series wants to shed light on the tremendous journeys of the individuals that have contributed to the peace and stability of the region through lobbying and advocating for the dignity of the African people.

The Untold Journey Podcast, Bishop (Rtd) Enock Tombe; the first guest.

The Untold Journey Episode 01: The Church and the Independence of South Sudan.

In this episode, Bishop (Rtd.) Enock Tombe a member of the AACC Eminent Persons for peace in Africa talked about the tremendous contributions of the Church during the civil wars in Sudan and the critical role the Church played throughout the peace processes until South Sudan gained independence in 2011. It is with no doubt that campaigns led by faith leaders #LetMyPeopleGo played a key factor in the history of an independent state.
